

February 2009

O2 and Active Digital in partnership

O2 and Active Digital work in partnership to bring you the best communications solution for your business. During our partnership we have seen constant growth, due to Active Digital's dedication to providing high levels of service and their commitment to offering truly integrated voice and data solutions.

We have been impressed with the customer service provided by Active Digital and, as a result, their strong client retention record. Their client portfolio is impressive with customers of all sizes, from 5 to 3000 mobile users. It's important to us that our strategic partners share our attitude of delivering excellence to customers. By working closely with Active Digital, we gain valuable customers to the O2 network.

Active Digital is an accredited O2 Centre of Excellence partner – an indication of their performance within the mobile industry. The O2 Centre of Excellence sets demanding entry criteria based on acquisition, retention and commitment to the business sector. Active Digital continues to not only qualify for the accreditation but to excel on all criteria.

We are committed to working closely with Active Digital to further enhance their portfolio by delivering great quality products and maintaining the high standards set. As a valuable strategic partner at the forefront of telecoms integration, we are delighted to be working together now and in the future.